Red Congress Hits Former One-Man Rule

Bulgarian's Five-Year Plan Is Endorsed By Soviet Groups

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 (P)—The 20th Congress of the Communist party today unanimously warned against any attempt to restore one-man rule in the Soviet Union.

It publicly flashed a big red light against any person in the party who might try to take over Stalin's role.

Party boss N. S. Khrushchev and all other top leaders have told the Congress they are devoted to the principle of collective rule. They have disavowed any intention to return to the one-man system.

"The Congress," said a resolution adopted unanimously, "charges the Central Committee not to relax its struggle against a revival of the cult of the one man, to remember that the genuine creator of a new life are the masses led by the Communist party."

Resolution Drawn Up

The same resolution, drawn up by a committee headed by Khrushchev, declared the Central Committee was "absolutely right" in coming out against the cult of one person.

The Congress also endorsed, with unspecified reservations, Premier N. A. Bulganin's proposals for a new five-year plan.

A committee headed by Bulganin himself was named to make amendments and suggestions for the plan, which is aimed at pushing the Soviet Union's production ahead of that of the United States.

Delegates adopted a detailed resolution formally approving Khrushchev's keynote report to the Congress as party doctrine here and abroad. It was in this speech that Khrushchev enunciated the collective leadership principle.

Also approved by resolution was the execution in December 1953 of Lavrenty P. Beria, secret police boss under Stalin. The resolution said the Congress "resolutely approves the manner in which the Central Committee moved against Beria."

Malenkov Criticized

Meanwhile, former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov's Ministry of Electric Power Stations was sharply criticized by the boss of Soviet state planning for delays in putting new equipment into operation.

This was the first high-level criticism of the ministry since Malenkov took over just a year ago, after he declared himself inept in the premiership and resigned. The article revived speculation about the future of Malenkov, who succeeded Stalin in 1953. Malenkov already has spoken in the current 20th Soviet Communist party Congress. He went down the line for the policy laid down by party boss N. S. Khrushchev. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Plane Explodes, 19 Aboard Die

DAMASCUS, Syria, Feb. 24 (P)—A Syrian Airways passenger plane exploded in flight about 15 miles from Aleppo today, killing all 19 persons aboard.

It was the third major air disaster in the Mediterranean area in a week. All three have cost 121 lives.

Last Saturday 50 British soldiers were killed when their chartered plane crashed on the island of Malta. On Monday a French plane crashed on the desert near Cairo, killing 32 persons.

The Syrian plane, a twin-engine Dakota, was en route to Damascus from Aleppo on an ancient city now an industrial center.

All the victims were Syrians with the exception of the Greek pilot, a government announcement said.

The pilot's name was listed only as Capt. Vivas.

There was no word on what caused the explosion shortly after the takeoff from Aleppo, near the Turkish frontier, for the 200-mile flight south to Damascus.

Senate Heads Plan Election Law Changes

Would Provide For Stringent Reports Of Contributions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (P)—Senate leaders announced plans today to reform the election laws in advance of the presidential and congressional campaigns this year.

Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) said one aim of the legislation is to put political contributions "in a goldfish bowl," for all the voters to see.

He indicated, however, that the bill would apply only to elections, not primary campaigns.

"We're going to have a strong elections bill this session," Johnson said.

Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) told newsmen:

"I think some changes can be made to improve the election situation. I would like to see something accomplished before the 1956 elections."

Johnson said the leadership was not trying to steal the thunder of the special committee of eight senators appointed yesterday to investigate political pressures lobbying and campaign contributions. It will be some time before the special group makes any recommendations, and the leaders obviously want something in the works right away.

The bipartisan legislation now being drafted, Johnson said, can be revised to meet any needs brought to light in the lobbying investigation.

"Stringent" Requirements He said the proposed bill will provide "stringent" requirements for the reporting of campaign contributions. It will also provide federal tax exemption for up to $100 of individual political contributions. The idea of this is to encourage more people to make comparatively small donations and thus broaden financial participation in election campaigns.

Another section, Johnson said, would permit TV and radio networks to give equal free time to candidates of the major parties without having to accord the privilege to "splinter" groups. The senator said the section would be framed to give free time, too, to any important third party entering the political scene.

Johnson said an attempt also will be made to lift the present limit on campaign donations on a "realistic level." The law now limits a national political committee to three million dollars. Each major party now spends much more than that in presidential campaigns, however, by channeling contributions to various different committees.

Primary Elections Out It is not the present plan to include primary elections in the jurisdiction of the bill, Johnson said. Southern objections to stricter regulations of primaries has stalled a new elections bill sponsored by Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.).

In this connection, Knowland said discussion of the bill had not gone far enough yet to determine whether a primary provision should be included.

U.S. Hopeful Atom Meeting Brings Charter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (P)—The United States is reported optimistic that a 12-nation meeting next week—Russia included—will reach agreement in principle on a charter for an atom-for-peace agency.

Before the conference, which gets under way here Monday, is a draft statute already approved by the United States and seven other countries. If approved by the other four, it will be submitted to 84 countries inside and outside the United Nations.

Key problems before the conference are Russia's insistence that the proposed agency be tied to the United Nations Security Council, where the Soviet veto could play a decisive role. The United States insists that the agency should have only a loose connection with the U.N., with the responsibility merely of reporting annually to that organization.

Diplomatic sources said today there is a strong feeling that Russia will find so much support for the U.S. view that the Soviets will abandon their stand about the veto.

If not, the United States is expected to propose going ahead without Russia, just as it did nearly two years ago. At that time Russia was dragging its heels in correspondence aimed at putting into effect President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace proposal of Dec. 8, 1953.

Faced with this Soviet delay, the United States and seven of the countries meeting in Washington next week drew up the charter now being considered. Russia shortly came along.

The seven other countries are Britain, France, Canada, Belgium, Australia, South Africa and Portugal. The others, besides Russia, meeting next week are Czechoslovakia, India, and Brazil.

U.S. policy about the eventual shape and scope of the agency is reported to be flexible. Informants said it could emerge as a kind of bank, which would accept deposits and withdrawals of nuclear material, or simply wind up as a clearing house for atomic data.

Washington Day Tickets Forgiven

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 24 (P)—Dayton motorists who got parking tickets on Washington's Birthday—and had no place to pay them—won't have to pay after all.

City Manager Herbert W. Starick explained that an ordinance excluding "holidays" on its parking meters did not include Washington's Birthday, but that other rules provided for closing city offices and the bail window.

Today, Starick had a change of heart. He said the tickets will be forgiven and that the city will straighten out either its ordinance or the signs.

LONDON, Feb. 24 (P)—The London diplomatic colony chuckled today to hear the Soviet Embassy had invited senior British Foreign Office men to sit through a "film about Messrs. Bulganin and Khrushchev's visit to India." The British diplomats intend to decline.

Crippled Plane Safe In Flight Over Atlantic

LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 25 (P)—A crippled U.S. Air Force Globemaster with 16 men aboard landed safely in Iceland early today after a grim two-hour battle with failing engines over the Atlantic.

The big plane came through the clouded night sky and made a perfect landing on the U.S. Air Force base at Keflavik, the Air Force said here.

"Everyone on board is safe," it added.

The lumbering four-engine transport was en route from Goose Bay, Labrador to Prestwick, Scotland when it developed engine trouble about 600 miles west of Iceland.

Air-Sea rescue planes from Keflavik escorted the crippled plane in on the last two hours of its troubled flight.

Broken Axle Caused Crash

ODENTON, Md., Feb. 24 (P)—The Pennsylvania Railroad said today an axle which unaccountably broke caused the derailment of the Embassy passenger train in which five persons were killed and more than 100 injured.

The 14-car train was speeding at 80 miles per hour over the flatlands between Baltimore and Washington when the accident happened yesterday. Nine cars were derailed.

J. A. Schwab, regional manager for Pennsylvania Railroad, said normal lubricating procedures had been followed and no defect in the bearing had been found.

"The roller bearing journal where the axle broke was inspected for oil level and lubrication in Sunnyside Yard, New York, on Feb. 19, just four days before the accident, and was checked in normal inspection in Washington before the train left last evening," Schwab said.

"Our present conclusion is that the accident resulted from a fracture in the axle, itself, which type of failure is extremely uncommon," he added.

Four of the injured were still on the critical list tonight.

Bulganin Sends Sympathy Message

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 (P)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin sent President Tito a message of sympathy for Yugoslav deaths from avalanches during the European cold wave and received a warm reply, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

The Soviet Red Cross sent a gift of 40,000 rubles—$10,000 at the official rate—to the Yugoslav disaster fund, the agency said.

Ambassador Resigns

QUITO, Ecuador, Feb. 24 (P)—Foreign Minister Rafael Arizaga Vega announced today the resignation of Jose Ricardo Chiriboga as Ecuador's ambassador to Washington has been accepted. Chiriboga submitted his resignation three weeks ago when he became a candidate for the presidency in next June's elections.

It's No Crime To Be Broke Despite Orders

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (P)—It's no crime to be too broke to buy new pants, even under military orders, the Court of Military Appeals held today.

The finding reversed the court-martial verdict under which William H. Pinkston, former Marine Corps sergeant, was dishonorably discharged after four months at hard labor.

An inspection at Kaneohe Bay, Oahu, Hawaii, where Pinkston was assigned to an officers' club, turned up the fact that he was shy two summer uniforms. He was ordered to buy more but said he didn't have the money.

The Appellate Court found that the factor of inability to pay never was presented at the trial where Pinkston was convicted last November of failing to obey an order. In the circumstances the court held the idea of guilt to be "downright shocking."

Mass Pickets, Violence Banned At Republic

FARMINGDALE, N.Y., Feb. 24 (P)—Mass picketing and violence were outlawed today in the million-dollar-a-day Republic Aviation Corp. strike—but not in time to prevent a new mob brawl.

State Supreme Court Justice Edgar J. Nathan Jr., granted the company a temporary injunction limiting pickets and forbidding them to interfere with nonstrikers.

Nathan was to specify later the maximum number of pickets the striking International Assn. of Machinists may station at Republic's four Long Island jet plane and guided missile plants.

For 15 minutes at a hearing yesterday, Nathan watched company movies of picket line violence that has marked the six-day-old wage strike. The union called out 12,000 production workers last Sunday.

Nathan's injunction came too late to prevent a battle at the main plant here between an estimated 200 pickets and several hundred nonstrikers who tried to get to work by train.

One policeman was injured and there was the usual quota of the bloodied and bruised. Fourteen more persons were arrested to send the total arrests since the strike began over the 120 mark.

Federal mediators invited the company to a Monday meeting, as a prelude to hoped-for resumption of joint negotiations. Union representatives met with the mediators yesterday and expressed a willingness to resume negotiations which have been suspended since the strike began.

The union, meanwhile, lodged an unfair labor complaint against Republic with the National Labor Relations Board in New York. It accused the company of refusing to bargain.

The IAM has charged that Republic offered its members a 5-cents-an-hour wage increase on a flat take it or leave it basis. The union seeks a 19½-cents-an-hour package covering wages, welfare, vacations, and night shift improvements.

The union estimated current average wages at $1.97 an hour, while the company set a figure of $2.23.

Says Moscow Junks Plans Of Violence

Secretary Defends Saudi Arabia Tanks Deal As "Politics"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (P)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the Russians are junking a 30-year policy of violence and intolerance and "bringing their system and habits closer to ours."

He took the stand that Moscow, while still aiming at world domination, has been forced to make a big change in methods because of the "unity, firmness and determination of the free world."

Dulles made the assertions to an overflow audience at a "back to bipartisanship" hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Stoutly defending the recent shipment of 18 light tanks to Saudi Arabia, Dulles gave a generally optimistic review of world affairs—highlighted by his statement that the Soviet Union is developing "at this minute in Moscow" a new "creed."

"They have come to the conclusion," he said, "that our methods are better than theirs. They are trying to play our game. I am sure we can beat them at that game. If we can't, then we ought to be ashamed of ourselves."

Imitates Americans

On the whole, Dulles declared, such a shift in Soviet policy—he called it an "imitation" of American methods—stands to benefit the free world. And he said the Kremlin may have set in motion "irresistible forces" that will foment "the yeast of change" in Russia's government.

Several Democrats, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) among them, voiced pointed skepticism both at Dulles' hopeful view of the world situation and at his defense of the Saudi Arabian tank deal.

Dulles' answer, in effect: They were playing politics. He said he can look at the calendar and see what year it is—election year—and suspects a good many other people do the same.

Dulles made it plain he doesn't think the Soviets have given up their aim of getting the whole world under their thumb. And he said the free nations must guard steadily against a Soviet swing back toward a policy of violence.

The 3½-hour hearing ended on a not-too-bipartisan note.

Paints Rosy Picture

Dulles was applauded—for the second time—by a goodly segment of the audience.

But Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) asserted the secretary had presented only "a rosy picture of progress" and declared:

"I don't share that optimism at all."

Dulles was invited to testify in greater detail at a closed session next Tuesday. He said he'd accept it if he could sandwich it between his talks with President Gronchi of Italy and his departure for Karachi and other Asiatic points later in the week.

Rebels Prepare For Long War

ALGIERS, Algiers, Feb. 24 (P)—Nationalist rebels circulated tracts today claiming they were preparing for a long, tough war to force the French into a defeat as serious as Dien Bien Phu in Indochina.

The tracts were circulated following renewed rebel attacks that French officers admit are becoming more skillful. The pattern of the 16-month-old insurrection is changing, they say.

The tracts were signed by the National Liberation Front, unofficially regarded as representing the rebel organization, and the body to negotiate with "when the conditions for a cease-fire are fulfilled."

Nationalist terrorism continued throughout Algeria, bringing 52 dead in the past 24 hours. In Oran French settlers countered with a rowdy demonstration that had to be curbed by police tear gas. About 1,500 people attempted to storm government buildings in Oran and stoned security troops.

The mob was made up of students and war veterans who poured into the streets after attending funeral services for three Oran reservists killed in a rebel attack earlier this week.

Search For Goat Starts 2nd Hunt

MIDDLETON, Tenn., Feb. 24 (AP)—Four-year-old Barney Adams wanted a billy goat.

That natural longing of a city-bred youngster set off an anxious, 200-man hunt through Hardeman County's muddy backwoods yesterday before Barney was returned safely to his grandfather's farm home.

Barney came here from Chicago four days ago to visit his grandfather, Homer Baxter. He'd been told there'd be goats around the farm. He found none.

So, coiling a 20-foot length of rope, Barney set out to "hunt me a billy goat." A search of the farm started two hours later. By afternoon, more than 200 volunteers fanned out over this south-west Tennessee county hunting for Barney. They drained two ponds, waded through others. No trace of him.

Seven hours after his disappearance, the Chicago boy toddled up to a farm house in Mississippi, just across the state line and 10 miles from his grandfather's house.

"He's a little man. He wasn't at all frightened or excited," said Fred McClintock of the Tennessee Forestry Division who directed the search.

But Barney still has no billy goat.

Record Sized Egg Turned Out To Be Smaller

VINELAND, N. J., Feb. 24 (AP)—A scrambled egg story came out of this poultry raising center today.

First came the report that a white Leghorn had made poultry history in New Jersey by laying an egg weighing a pound. The Vineland Times-Journal sent its farm editor to the farm of Martin Moldovan in nearby Norma to view the egg and interview the farmer.

Today, however, as the Times-Journal advertising department prepared for a special page in honor of the event, an advertising man, out of curiosity, asked to have the egg weighed again. The egg was placed on the scale. The weigher said, "There, see—one pound." The ad man looked at the scale and read eight ounces. A big egg—yes. A record? No.

Marvel Skipper Pleads Innocent To Negligence

BALTIMORE, Feb. 24 (AP)—John H. Meckling, who survived the foundering of his pleasure schooner, Levin J. Marvel, in Chesapeake Bay last Aug. 12, pleaded innocent today to federal charges of misconduct and negligence.

The Marvel, tossed about by winds prelude Hurricane Connie, broke up off North Beach, Md., a summer resort about 30 miles south east of Washington, D.C. Fourteen passengers drowned. Nine passengers and all four crewmen survived.

The 38-year-old skipper from Annapolis was indicted Feb. 7 by a Federal grand jury on one charge of misconduct, negligence and inattention to duty and another of operating a vessel in a reckless or negligent manner so as to endanger the lives and property of passengers and crew.

Court officials said the indictment amounts to a charge of manslaughter.

Meckling was arraigned in Baltimore Federal Court before Judge R. Dorsey Watkins. The jurist gave him until March 5 to file any motions and set March 9 for a hearing on those motions.

Harry Leeward Katz and John C. Weiss Jr., the Baltimore attorneys representing Meckling, said they might ask that the trial be transferred to another court. They said new stories of the Coast Guard hearing on the Marvel disaster had lessened his chance of getting a fair-minded jury.

The trial date won't be set until the motions are disposed of. Conviction on the first charge against Meckling carries a top penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine and the second count one year in prison and a fine of $2,000.

Says Moscow

Humphrey suggested there was "a lack of proper planning and understanding" involved in the off-and-on arms shipment at a time of threatened war between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

Hoover Accepts Blame
Dulles insisted, however, that the tanks could not be used against Israel—while declaring that Czechoslovakian arms shipments to Egypt, on the other hand, would after the Middle East arms balance "materially" to the disadvantage of Israel.

Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr., appearing with Dulles, took personal and sole responsibility for both the decision to hold up the tank shipment eight days ago and for the subsequent ruling that the weapons could be sent after all.

Hoover, who took the actions while Dulles was vacationing in the Bahamas, said President Eisenhower "fully concurred" in the decisions. And he denied published reports that they were made under pressure from White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

"It was entirely my decision," Hoover said.

Gilbert Green, Fugitive Red, To Surrender

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—A letter writer purporting to be fugitive Communist Gilbert Green said today he will come out of hiding and give himself up at noon Monday.

Green disappeared nearly five years ago. He jumped $20,000 bond rather than go to prison as one of 11 top American Red leaders convicted of revolutionary conspiracy. He was under sentence of five years.

Three others fled at the same time but two later were recaptured and imprisoned. Green and Henry Winston are still at large. Green would be the first of the Communist hierarchy to surrender voluntarily, although some lesser Reds recently have come out of hiding to face criminal charges.

A typewritten letter postmarked in New York at 10:30 p.m. last night was received today by The Associated Press and other news services. Signed "Gil Green," it said in part:

"On Monday, Feb. 27, at 12 noon I shall cease being a fugitive from justice and instead become its prisoner. At that time I shall appear at Foley Square."

The FBI's New York headquarters is in the federal courthouse at Foley Square. It's the same building where Green and his 10 top-ranking comrades were convicted Oct. 14, 1949, after a tumultuous and historic 37-week trial.

The FBI said it had heard of the letter but knew nothing about it.

A Communist party spokesman expressed surprise at the letter and said he was "startled."

The letter spoke of hiding out as harsher than imprisonment because it entailed separation from loved ones and "suffering both for myself and my family."

The missive continued: "New political winds are blowing. These give hope that the curtain of fear behind which democratic liberties were undermined and destroyed will be lifted. They also give reason for confidence that the day is not far off when the political rights of Communists will be restored and men and women of differing political persuasions will be able, once again, to debate their views openly and freely in the public arena."

Bauerlien Gets Life Sentence

WESTMINSTER, Md., Feb. 24 (AP)—A life sentence was imposed today on Ralph P. Bauerlien, 25-year-old Carroll County house painter who shot to death his estranged wife and the man who tried to save her.

Bauerlien was tried only for the Dec. 12 slaying of his wife, 22-year-old Betty Bauerlien. He was convicted last Monday by a jury of first degree murder.

Bauerlien also was accused of shooting to death Elmer K. Stambaugh, 41, who tried to come to Mrs. Bauerlien's rescue. She had been boarding with the Stambaugh family.

Effective Method To Censor Movies

BERLIN, Feb. 24 (AP)—Communists East Germany came up today with a reliable method of censoring movies: Holding a hand in front of the projector lens.

The satirical East German weekly, Eulenspiegel, said the technique was recently employed by an exhibitor in Doebelin, during a show for children.

The exhibitor had no suitable children's films, so he was forced to show an East German movie that was forbidden for youths under 16. He solved the problem by ordering the projector operator to hold his hand in front of the projector lens for some scenes.

chev, including the concept of all-out priority for the development of heavy industry over consumer goods. Malenkov's name has been identified in the past with an attempt to give priority to consumer goods.

Sat With Party

Although Malenkov sat with the ruling party Presidium during the Congress, and to all outward appearances remained a member of the "collective leadership," the criticism of his ministry by Saburov, head of the State Planning Commission, stirred curiosity concerning Malenkov's actual role at the moment.

The criticism came just as the party prepared to elect its new Central Committee, which is supposed to be the ruling body.

THERE'S A MOUNTAIN OF STRENGTH

Mount Lassen in northern California towers majestically heavenward, its immense size a tremendous sight to man. It has long been considered an inactive volcano, yet it maintains an active warmth in its depths that is shared with lakes and springs at its base.

Somehow it reminds you of the towering strength of Christianity. Christianity, like Mount Lassen, is visible to all in its vicinity. It is a mountain of strength, with endless opportunities for exploring its mysteries.

Christianity imparts warmth to all who approach it. From its depths there spring rivers of living water to quench the thirst of your soul. And though each person touching this mountain should take away with him all he could carry to scatter through the world, yet its bulk will not diminish.

Gaze upon that Christianity that is like a huge mountain. Be warmed, refreshed, and strengthened through fellowship and worship each Sunday at Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Nation's Capital Is America's Mecca

Henry Burroughs of Washington, D. C., is a man who knows a lot about the likes and dislikes of visitors to the nation's capital. He has to, for he is president of a large sightseeing company in Washington.

Surveys were taken from employees of the Gray Line, Mr. Burroughs' outfit, on the most often visited places of interest and the results were somewhat surprising. Contrary to what might be a popular belief, the White House and Congress are not the most popular tourist attractions.

By far the greatest enticement to Washington is the Smithsonian Institution, which plays host to 3.5 million persons annually. This should not be surprising. The Smithsonian is the dean of American museums. Weeks can be spent inside its doors assimilating the wealth of knowledge contained in the thousands of colorful graphic displays. Side by side may be found items from civilizations dating back to the years B. C. along with those from 1956.

Second on the must list of every Washington visitor is the Lincoln Memorial, visited by over 2 million each year. Ironically, many thousands of the Lincoln enthusiasts think they are visiting his tomb, but they are not. Lincoln is buried in his home town of Springfield, Ill.

Finally, in third place is the White House, which attracts somewhat less than 2 million visitors. As explained by Burroughs, the reason more people do not visit the home of the presidents is the relatively short time the mansion is open to the public. There is not much doubt that if access to the White House were as easy as to the Smithsonian or the Lincoln Memorial, there would be a never ending line at the front gate.

Whatever reason Americans have for wanting to go to Washington, the abundant numbers in which they enter the city simply for the sake of sightseeing is indicative of the sense of pride they have for their government.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

When People Are Prosperous

It is a serious fact that on the whole the American people are bored with politics and with all the intricate maneuvers that need to be reported if the complete story is to be told. The people, for the most part, are prosperous. They have no very serious complaints as of the moment. They have had about 20 years of Red and Nationalist China, Burma and Pakistan and they would like to hear a good joke about Squedunk. There is a retreat from wisdom and even knowledge. This would not be the time to write a book, "Every Man His Own Pundit."

There is another trouble for the politicians and that is that the people have seen the same faces for too long and ubiquity breeds contempt. It is about time that some new characters showed up to stir the minds and hearts of men and women. Since the Republican and Democratic parties got to being like Siamese twins in ideas and methods, the leadership more or less looks alike. If a composite picture were made of the leading American politicians, the picture would come out looking like Harold Stassen who always has a smirk on when photographs are being taken. And Harold always is where photographs are being taken.

In fact, I read an interesting article written by a publisher the other day and I was engrossed until I came to his picture, which while unrelated to the article was put in to show what he looked like. Well, he looked as though he had just seen a strip-tease or a fat man fall on a banana peel or something like that. And I could not help thinking that he was laughing about because the article dealt with hunger and misery and such conditions and should have been written between 1946 and 1948 when it might have done some good and saved some lives. But the truth is that if you take a picture and you don't laugh, the people may not want to read what you write. So, you take a laughing picture and then the gloomy stuff goes down better. At any rate, it was not written by a gloomy person.

Why a laughing face gives the impression of truthfulness in this era, I do not know, except that in an age of prosperity, unpleasant truths sound untruthful. It is like a card I received as a Valentine which asked, if you're such a genius, why aren't you rich? It is a good question unless you ask, rich in what? My friend, I am sure, meant money-rich. Well, I know lots of people who are money-rich who have no idea how poor they are. Take, for instance, those party-givers who vie with each other not to amuse their friends most but to get the most bizarre publicity. It costs them a fortune to be ridiculed and they like it because if they were not ridiculed, they would not be noticed. So their money really means nothing to them, but what they want is to be rich in notices. It is publicity that they need not to advance some good cause or even themselves, but just to have publicity.

And the people read it and say that it's all a fake and enjoy it and want more of it. Life has not yet become sufficiently serious in this country so that we do not like to be faked. In fact, if Diogenes were to run for public office in most parts of the country he would be regarded as just as much of a bore as Senator Francis Case of South Dakota who made such a fuss about getting 25 $100 bills from an unknown source for no purpose whatsoever. Senator Case, I am told, is a man of immaculate virtue but even such a man ought to know that one of the most usual ways for $100 bills to keep in circulation is by contributing them to candidates and parties and then nobody keeps a record. Senator Case's colleagues must wonder whether anyone ever told him about the bees and the birds and such creatures.

At any rate, I've vetoed the gas bill for the wrong reasons and probably lost the Texas vote which would not have gone Republican in 1956 anyhow. Nor will that veto help him to carry New York State where the issue in 1956 is why the Arabs get arms and Israel cannot get arms. On this issue, the Republican party will lose the State of New York and probably New Jersey and Connecticut and the situation will not be changed because Ike can play golf in the rain which nobody cares about here. Each place has its own interests and its own problems but when folks are prosperous, they do not worry about side-issues. What concerns them is what makes them happy or unhappy and what makes many of them unhappy here is the argument over arms for the Arabs or for Israel. In Alabama, it is something else.

I got through that one without once mentioning Khrushchev. It was an achievement.

Denial Of Right To Work Given Scant Attention

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Much of the furor about the violation of "civil liberties" is focused nowadays either on the segregation problem or on getting a "due process" hearing for persons accused of Communist connections. To such cases, a good deal of time and energy is being devoted by various organizations which claim to be anxious to uphold the Bill of Rights of the Constitution.

But, for some curious reason, the most flagrant disregard of civil liberties in America — the denial to millions of citizens of the right to work without being threatened with violence or otherwise intimidated — receives scant attention. There is no indignation voiced by these same organizations about the fact that workers are constantly intimidated, and that many of them actually are barred by physical force from working at their jobs.

The press dispatches on the subject are numerous, but too often are treated as routine affairs. The United Press on Tuesday of this week distributed the following dispatch:

Cites New York Story

"NEW YORK — Violence flared again today at the strikebound Republic Aviation Corporation plant here when some 400 non-strikers marched into strong picket lines in an attempt to enter the main gate.

"At least three men were hospitalized with injuries suffered in today's melee. One woman suffered injuries and was treated at the scene. Six more strikers were arrested, bringing the number of arrests well above 60 since the strike began three days ago.

"Police said the pickets faced non-strikers today with their hands in their pockets apparently in an attempt to disprove police charges that they had attacked patrolmen and non-union workers with their fists in earlier fighting.

Man is no billy goat, but he has swallowed nearly every imaginable article, from the minutest to the most incredibly large. Most of these foreign bodies pass through the intestinal tract safely within seven days.

Pointed objects such as toothpicks, bones, nails, wire, porcupine quills, and common pins are the most dangerous. These are indigestible, cannot turn corners, and may perforate through the wall of the stomach or intestine. In our modern society the toothpick is the culprit encountered most frequently.

A good example is found in the

"The new violence occurred just after 7 a. m. today, the crucial hour when the day shift normally reports for work at the airplane manufacturing plant. Police said several persons were knocked to the ground in the clash which broke out today.

"Approximately 400 non-strikers were reported to have broken through the picket lines into the main gate. Some of them gained entrance by joining some 250 pickets walking in tight formation. When the circling pickets reached a point next to the gate, the non-strikers broke from it and ran through the entrance."

This type of coercion has been reported many times, particularly at the various Westinghouse plants in recent weeks. It is not the number actually injured but the number intimidated which is the most important fact in these cases.

18 Tanks Assigned To Saudi Arabia Sail In Vessel Of Jewish Ownership

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Latest wrinkle in the controversy over 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia is a question as to whether they will be received by the Arabs since they are being shipped on a Jewish-owned vessel.

Hitherto no vessels owned by Jews have been permitted in Egyptian or Arab harbors or anywhere near Egyptian or Arab waters.

The SS James Monroe on which the 18 tanks are proceeding to Jeddah is chartered briefly by a Greek firm, Hellenic Lines, but is owned by the family of Jacob Michael, 120 Wall Street, New York, under a complicated arrangement. The arrangement is so complicated and so round-about that it took some time to track it down.

Mr. Michael, a strong Zionist, would not make himself available to answer inquiries. Repeated calls to his office brought the reply that he was out. Calls to the Liberian embassy and the Liberian deputy maritime commissioner, Albert J. Rudick, at 261 Madison Avenue, also failed to shed much light on the ownership of the vessel. Officially, the ownership was registered under Seacarriers, SA, a Panamanian firm. But Mr. Rudick said he could not go beyond that, and besides, he was distrustful of telephone calls.

The Panamanian embassy in Washington said it was equally in the dark. The James Monroe sails under a Liberian flag but is registered in Panama, thus does not have to comply with American wage and safety standards. The Panamanian embassy, however, said it did not know who owned Seacarriers, SA, though admitting Seacarriers was a Panamanian firm.

"How do you know this company isn't going to ship behind the Iron Curtain?" the embassy was asked. "We don't. We leave that to you," was the reply.

More Run-Around

After several hours of telephoning, the press relations spokesman for Jacob Michael called to say that Mr. Michael did not now own the vessel, that he had sold it, and that his attorney, Abraham Pomerantz, would speak for him.

Mr. Pomerantz stated that Mr. Michael had once owned the vessel through Seacarriers, SA, but had sold it on March 11, 1955.

"In that case, he would have to record the sale with the Maritime Administration in Washington," Mr. Pomerantz was reminded.

"That is not necessary."

"Who did he sell the ship to?"

"Mr. Michael cannot reveal this. He does not wish to embarrass the other party. He has absolutely no control over the ship. He cannot say more."

Various questions were asked as to why Michael could not reveal the name of the new owner, without result.

However, the records of the Maritime Administration were conclusive. They showed that he had sold or transferred the ship only to his wife.

Maritime records stated that the vessel, a Liberty ship, was built in Baltimore in 1943, named the John W. Powell, and sold in March 1951 to the Anchor Steamship Corporation, which Michael controlled. The vessel at that time was operated under the American flag.

Real Owner

On November 15, 1954, the vessel was transferred to Panamanian registry and Seacarriers, SA, with the approval of the Maritime Administration. Approval was given by the Eisenhower administration under a policy followed at that time whereby Liberty ships could be transferred to foreign flags to take advantage of cheaper labor costs, if the U. S. A. retained the right to reclaim the vessel in time of emergency and provided the vessel did not trade with Iron Curly trying today to bring about the repeal of the laws of 17 states which specifically protect the "right to work."

There is, moreover, a federal question involved. Labor unions were given a legal status by Congress, first in the Wagner Act and later in the Taft-Hartley Law. The right to bargain collectively is a privilege granted specifically by the federal government. Just as a reckless driver can have his license suspended or taken away from him, so the reckless labor union could be punished by the withholding of collective-bargaining privileges if the law so stipulated.

Mass picketing is, of course, forbidden now by federal statute, but there are no penalties except orders "to cease and desist," and these, like court injunctions or contempt charges, do not provide any effective means of preventing a recurrence of rioting and bloodshed. Nor do they give a worker assurance that he will not have his car smashed up if he tries to park it at a factory gate.

Blot On Record

Today mob violence and intimidation are condoned, as leaders of labor unions fail to condemn both. Also, mass picketing could not be carried on without the knowledge, if not the instigation, of labor union officials themselves.

Trade unionism has many worthy objectives, but it's a blot on the record of many such organizations that what they cannot win by persuasion, they try to achieve by the strong arm.

The violence reported from Alabama recently on the friction between races is deplorable, but the case for observance of civil rights would be stronger if there were less hypocrisy about observing the other rights granted by the Constitution.

name my doctor gave to my bout of nausea and vomiting.

REPLY

Gastro refers to the stomach and enter to the intestine. When it is added the term means inflammation of these digestive organs. Common examples are food poisoning and intestinal flu.

INHERITED CHOREA

M. L. writes: I have St. Vitus' dance and so have my two sisters and our mother. Does this mean it is inherited?

REPLY

St. Vitus' dance is Sydenham's chorea and it is caused by rheumatic fever. Huntington's chorea is hereditary and I presume you refer to this type. The condition is passed from generation to generation and seldom develops until the 30s.

HEADS UP OR DOWN

N. B. writes: Why is it that some animals like dogs can drink with the head down, while others, like chickens, hold their heads up?

REPLY

The ability to suck in water and squirt it back into the throat explains why most animals, including dogs and cattle, are able to drink with the head down. This mechanism is lacking in fowl and explains why they hold up the head so that water can trickle into the stomach by gravity.

SLEEPING AFTER EATING

B. W. writes: Is it healthy or unhealthy to go to sleep after a meal?

REPLY

Neither—it's a pleasure.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellian will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

INFLAMED DIGESTIVE TRACT

C. T. writes: What is the cause of gastroenteritis? This is the tain countries. Fifty-seven such vessels were transferred to foreign flags under this policy.

Records of the Maritime Administration showed that Seacarriers was and still is owned by Mrs. Erna S. Michael and by the Astra Management Corporation, which in turn is owned by Mrs. Michael, and in small part also by the Polaris Corporation, a Swiss corporation, which Mrs. Michael dominates.

There was no record of any other sale or transfer.

Asked if there would have to be a record of such a sale, the Maritime spokesman replied:

"Yes, that was one condition of the original sale. There would have to be prior notification and approval of a sale before it was made. A bond was posted to guarantee such notification."

Could Have Stopped Ship

In brief, Mr. Michael, if he transferred the SS James Monroe at all, transferred it to his wife. She has now chartered the ship for a brief period to Hellenic Lines, which is carrying the tanks to Saudi Arabia. But according to official government records, the ship is still owned by the Michael family, and it's barely possible that the Saudi Arabian government, in view of Israeli-Arab bitterness, might reject the tanks and demand that they be delivered in another vessel.

Shipping experts pointed out that Michael's own crew and captain were still in charge of the vessel, and that under the usual New York Produce Exchange Time Charter he or she still retained final control of the ship. Not only does his captain sign the papers and bills of lading, but an escape clause in the charter permits him to cancel the voyage because of strikes, riots, civil disturbances, or any force majeure.

Thus he could have canceled because of Zionist picketing of the ship in Brooklyn or the strike of seamen for higher pay when they found they would have to go into Near Eastern waters.

Finally, he could cancel because his wife's property was entering waters adjacent to Israel where the Israelis might seize it en route to Saudi Arabia.

"Root Hog, Or Die!"

By Brother Barnabas

The above phrase sounds like an idiom from Bohemia, but it is in our vernacular and is heard in the best social circles.

It is used here to nail a widespread human frailty of one's thinking he can rise to eminence in any walk of life with little or no effort.

Many people evidently believe that they can take short cuts over mountains of difficulties and go shilly-shallying along until they finally reach the top, forgetting Longfellow's "Ladder of St. Augustine."

The heights by great men reach'd and kept

Were not attain'd by sudden flight.

But they, while their companions slept,

Were toiling upward in the night.

A man from Missouri, worried about the cost of high living, passed through Topeka and read the Kansas state motto: Ad Astra Per Aspera ("To the Stars Through Difficulties").

They're Not Synonymous

He had astigmatism and confused "aspera" with "aspirin," and thereafter took a sedative for all headaches, including his income tax report.

If you win $100,000 in an Irish sweepstakes, the accident becomes a big news item; but if you win a black eye at an Irish wedding, the event is shushed. Yet both are Irish and both opprobrious. Conspicuousness and success are not synonymous.

The folks who have knowledge and skills within their familiar categories usually win the big prizes. Therefore the maxim: "Shoemaker, stick to your last."

In my town there was a distinguished cleric and a shoe shop bearing the same name—Petty. One day a woman met Dr. Petty and said: "You're the very man I want to see. I am having trouble with my uppers. Said the suave Doctor, 'I'm sorry, Lady, but I deal only with souls.'"

A group of fifteen were discussing the candidates. Some were for Ike, some for Adly, and some for Esty. One would vote for Dick, "Dick Nixon, you mean?" "No, Dick Tracy."

The prophet Isaiah (1:3) lamented that (God's) people "did not consider." And the same devil-may-care indifference is widely prevalent today as we fiddle on the brink of catastrophe rather than uproot the causes.

Muddy thinking is responsible for a lot of unclear and costly distinctions. The ability to think clearly, speak distinctly and act discreetly is a fine art not easily acquired.

There is a difference between wisdom and wisdom-ism; religion and religiosity; piety and piosity; patriotism and patriolatry.

Too Much Pushing Needed

To amble is to walk about aimlessly, like the sleepwalker who wandered about at night clad only in his pajamas. The cop said, "you will have to get off the streets or go with me to the coop."

"But I'm a somnambulist," excused he. "I don't care what denomination you belong to, you must obey the ordinance."

A perambulator is a vehicle designed for wheeling about babies, invalids and lazybones. It is easier to be pushed than push, yet the latter is more ethical. We have too many babyfied grown-ups who have to be pushed.

If the Dead Sea Scrolls were dead, why didn't they let them stay buried? A certain unshackled woman buried her third husband, it was announced. It seemed the proper thing to do under the circumstances, he was dead anyhow. She had had two others in succession before him. The first died of intermittent claustrophobia, although the operation was successful. The second died by request of the penal authorities. The third died of conubial tenderness.

The good wife (he had no other kind) went to buy a drinking cup, and the dealer said the only one he had was inscribed with "For the Dog."

"That will do," said she, "the dog can't read and my husband doesn't drink water. He drinks Peruna, fortified by Adam's ale."

When Hubby learned by grapevine telegraph that his schnapps were due to receive an injection of fluoride, he died of shock. He might have been living today if he had observed the root-hog-or-die formula.

Coveted Blessing

Health is doubtless the most coveted blessing of life — a synthesis of strength and beauty, yet many want it while ignoring the conditions that make it possible.

When Columbus landed on these shores the natives exclaimed: "We are ruined, we have been discovered."

Ever since the commercialists have been riding us with health nostrums, cure-alls, palliatives, vitamins, and what-have-you for whatever ails you.

Our abnormal modes and manners of living, our departure from Henry David Thoreau simplicities, our concocted foods and drinks, our dissipations and hypertension have impoverished our blood, weakened our coronaries and brought antibiotics, vitamins and transfusions to a new high.

The cat (no personal reference) has a natural philosophy. I sometimes envy his grace of motion, his agility, his freedom from tension, even his piny. He doesn't worry about his sins, he turns the other cheek, and he purrr-ays to whatever gods there be. And he is agin' segregation. So he has the vote of

Westernport Area Readies Heart Drive

Volunteers Visit Homes Tomorrow

WESTERNPORT—Volunteers in Blomington, Luke, Westernport and Franklin will be calling on their neighbors Sunday asking contributions to the 1956 Heart Fund. February 26, has been designated "Heart Sunday" and will be observed throughout the nation.

Announcement of the Heart Sunday collection will be made in all area churches and everyone is requested to cooperate in making this the year when the "Nation's No. 1 Killer" is put to rout.

In 1954, the last year for which statistics are complete, Heart and Circulatory diseases killed more people in the United States than cancer, accidents, pneumonia, diabetes, and kidney diseases combined, or 32.3% of all deaths at all ages.

One out of every 16 persons in this country suffer from some form of Heart and Circulatory disease and about 500,000 are children of school age.

Mrs. R. E. Footen, area coordinator, has announced that the local drive is being sponsored jointly by Victory Post No. 155 and Victory Post Auxiliary, with Mrs. Harry Harris and Lonnie Marsh, Jr., as co-captains.

The Victory Post American Legion home will be Heart Sunday headquarters and all volunteers are requested to get their supplies from the home today and return them as soon as their collection is complete Sunday. The money will be totaled and deposited as soon as all workers have made their returns, Mrs. Footen explained.

Kiwanians Hear Talk By Minister

KEYSER — Rev. Charles W. Paskel, pastor of First Methodist Church, named the Kiwanian of the month by Keyser Kiwanis Club, delivered an interesting talk at the weekly meeting Wednesday evening, choosing as his topic, the life of a minister of the Gospel.

As a Methodist minister, the speaker said, there is nothing of a really exciting nature, but there are trials as a pastor starts his career and carries on his mission. There are, however, many trials and tribulations as he carries on his service duties, and plenty of change as he is transferred every so often to another parish.

The audience found much excitement in his talk and the after dinner talk was filled with humor, sympathy and success.

The committees on the formation of the Key Club at Keyser High School reported plans for the formal inauguration of the club are nearly complete, and the committee directing the activities of the Ham, Bacon and Egg Show and Sale slated next month in the Keyser High School gymnasium, is ready for the opening night.

Both are sponsored by the Keyser Kiwanis Club.

District Deputy Grand Chief Visits Midland Pythian Sisters

MIDLAND—Mrs. Eloise Stafford, Lonaconing, District Deputy Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters of this area, made an official visit to Myrtle Temple No. 2, with Mrs. Rosemary McMillan, presiding. To honor Mrs. Stafford's official visitation, members presented a program assisted by Mrs. Rhoda McKenzie and Mrs. Eleanor Knott on "Hearts of Love." The four officers at the stations were Viola McGann, Eleanor Knott, Dora Rupert, and Rhoda McKenzie.

The sixteen Sisters of Degree dressed in long white dresses, drilled in the formation of a large heart in the center of the hall.

Mrs. Stafford was escorted by Mrs. Pearl Blair, a past Grand Chief, to each of the places symbolic of the temple and was presented gifts and cards of congratulations of her office. She was offered a hearty cooperation of the members of Myrtle Temple during her term of office. Her district convention will be held in Midland on May 9. Members of the local temple will be hostesses for the affair.

Past ritualistic guests of the evening were: Mesdames Flor Shaffer, Mrs. Pearl Neilson, Grand Temple officers; Miss Edith Holder, past Supreme Representative; Mrs. Pearl Blair, Supreme Representative; and Mrs. Sara Schramm, past Grand Chief, as well as other members from Garrett Temple No. 17, Oakland, Calanthe Temple No. 3, Frostburg, and Morning Star Temple, No. 1, Lonaconing.

The temple draped its charter for Mrs. Sadie Disharoon of Mt. Vernon Temple No. 8, Baltimore, and Mrs. Katherine Cheuvronte, Manhattan Temple No. 8, Cumberland, both past Grand Chiefs of State of Maryland Pythian Sisters.

Degree work will be exempted at the meeting of March 1. The group will hold a practice Sunday evening in Red Men's Hall at 7 o'clock.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Effie Sears and Mrs. Stafford. A four-tiered birthday cake was presented to Mrs. Sears by her daughter, Mrs. Francis Fatkins.

Mrs. Aleda Wilson was pianist for the evening and Blanche Henry won the regular prize. Refreshments were served by the members having birthdays January, February and March.

Three Persons Hurt In Mishap On Town Hill

Slippery Road Is Blamed

Rain and sleet which covered U. S. Route 40 east and west of Cumberland last night was blamed for an auto accident on Town Hill in which three persons were injured.

Maryland State Police said the accident occurred about 9:10 p. m. Volunteer firemen of Flintstone rushed to the scene in the company ambulance and brought the victims to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Kenneth J. Steiner Jr., 21, of Natchez, Miss., was admitted to the hospital with a possible back injury.

James P. Barnhart, 19, of Nemaquin, Pa., driver of the car, traveling toward Cumberland, sustained lacerations of the face and was treated; Glenn P. Kifer, 19, also of Nemaquin, suffered a laceration of his ear as well as cuts and bruises. He was treated and released.

Trooper J. F. Lewis, who investigated, said the car went out of control and struck an embankment about seven miles east of Flintstone.

Highway travel in the general area was hazardous last night as a result of rain, sleet and snow which fell during the afternoon and evening.

Continued occasional showers with slowly rising temperatures, windy and warmer weather were forecast for today by the weatherman.

Warmer, Rainy Today

The high temperature in Maryland today is expected to be in the 50s and thunderstorms are anticipated in West Virginia as well as windy weather, warmer temperatures and showers.

State Police at LaVale Barracks last night said the only serious accident east and west of Cumberland on Route 40 was the one on Town Hill.

In Cumberland the rain began falling about noon. As the mercury dropped sleet was falling, and later, snow began to fall.

Toward evening it began raining again as the temperature unofficially was about 35 degrees in the city. Highways were reported slippery east of here toward Hagerstown on Route 40 and west toward Grantsville.

Garrett County Worse

State Police reported that Garrett County highways were even worse than in the immediate area. Fog was reported in the Frostburg section last night, adding to the hazards of travel.

Streets in Cumberland were slippery in spots and walking was hazardous. City workmen were busy salting the various streets and will be kept on duty until the weather clears.

A check with the Blue Ridge Bus station here disclosed that some of the buses were not arriving in Cumberland on schedule due to highway conditions.

C & O Canal Aqueduct Is Barricaded

At the request of Mayor Roy W. Eves, the National Park Service has barricaded the deteriorating stone arch bridge which carries the C & O Canal across Everts Creek.

Early this month, Mayor Eves informed Harry H. Thompson, associate superintendent, that the city had received complaints regarding the dangerous condition of the aqueduct.

Many of the stones in the coping on either side of the structure have been loosened by tree roots, Mayor Eves said, and should be removed or reconditioned to avoid an accident.

Mayor Eves recommended that pending repairs, the bridge should be barricaded and signs placed warning pedestrians not to use the span.

Thompson advised, in his letter, that both barricades and signs have been placed by Park Service workers, who will be back next week to place additional barricades.

He said the department does not have the repairs of the aqueduct scheduled, but that the maintenance branch was placing the barricades and making a review of the condition of the structure.

Property Is Sold

Schmidt Baking Company has sold property on the south side of Lovell Avenue near the bakery to Robert B. Matthews and Nellie E. Matthews, according to a deed filed for record at the Court House.

The Original Dennis

Dennis Lloyd Ketcham, who inspired the Dennis the Menace cartoon series which will be a regular feature of The Cumberland News beginning Monday, is shown here with his mother, Alice Ketcham. Dennis' father, Hank Ketcham, who draws the strip, says the antics of his imaginative little boy prompted him to create the cartoon character who has endeared himself to millions of Americans.

Dennis The Menace To Join News Comics On Monday

A half-pint outlaw will make his first visit to Cumberland Monday through the pages of The Cumberland News.

He's Dennis the Menace, the mischievous moppet who has endeared himself to millions of American readers as the baby-sitter's nightmare.

Many News readers already have met Dennis in book form or in the comic book series about his antics. He'll be a daily feature of The News starting Monday.

Dennis' creator, Hank (Henry King) Ketcham, got the idea for his cartoon series one day in 1950 when his wife Alice—driven to distraction by their energetic four-year-old son Dennis Lloyd Ketcham—exclaimed, "Dennis, you're a menace!"

And so was born the little cartoon character whose stunts have since provided countless perplexed parents with the comforting knowledge that their own children aren't the world's champion mischief-makers.

Psychologists have found no tendency of small fry to imitate Dennis, and have assured Ketcham that his pranks are normal reactions of an imaginative little boy in conflict with the adult world.

Many adults who have no offspring have grown to like Dennis because they see in him the neighbors' kids, or the children they would like to have been themselves.

Unlike his cartoon counterpart, the real Dennis—that is, Dennis Ketcham—now is an obedient and popular young man of 9, his teacher reports. His father says he's outgrown whatever phase he was in when the cartoon series began.

But the cartoon Dennis still goes ripping around the grown-up world with an irrepressibly fresh outlook on everything, upsetting adult conventions wherever he goes—and providing a barrel of fun in the process.

Watch for him in The News Monday.

McGeady Released Under $7,500 Bond

Thomas Owen McGeady, 30, of 236 Avirett Avenue, yesterday was released under $7,500 bond pending a hearing in Federal District Court in Baltimore on a charge of embezzling $29,362 from the First National Bank, where he formerly was a teller.

The bond was set after a hearing before U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett. The commissioner said no date was set for McGeady's appearance in court. The court will notify McGeady after the trial date has been set.

McGeady was represented at the hearing by his attorneys, William C. Walsh and William Walsh. He was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury in Baltimore on 16 counts of taking amounts ranging from $354 to $5,500 between August 1952 and August 1955.

"The Master's Face" is one of the latest productions of Gospel Films, Inc., has been effective in obtaining decisions for Christ in other Youth For Christ rallies and churches, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Finance Groups Make Few Cuts In Budget Bill

Governor Submits Supplemental Plan

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 24 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin's budget came out of finance committees of the Legislature tonight, trimmed by only $194,569 from its original total of $303,559,613.

Most of the cuts were in the State Police Department where $124,774 was lopped off, principally by reducing from 80 to 50 the number of extra state troopers requested by the governor.

At the same time, McKeldin sent down a supplemental budget of $5,311,321, boosting the record-busting total to nearly 309 million dollars in proposed State spending for the year beginning July 1.

Goes To Senate

It and the regular budget went tonight to the floor of the Senate, which is to act on it first. Majority Floor Leader Turnbull (D-Balto County) said it probably won't clear the Senate before Monday.

The Senate Finance and House Ways and Means committees, chipping at an admittedly "tight" budget, managed to shave off only $32,483 in general funds, covering general State operations, and $142,086 in special funds, which can't be diverted to any purpose other than that for which they're earmarked.

They did drastically revamp, however, his proposed $4,600,000 appropriation for a general pay increase for State employees and shorter work week for those in institutions.

Vote Flat Boost

They knocked out the much criticized scale drawn up by the Standard Salary Board and voted all employees a minimum across the board increase of $260. They also put institutional employees on a 40 instead of 44-hour work week, as proposed by the governor.

The board's original plan had been to give a larger increase to general State employees since those in institutions were getting a shorter work week.

A subcommittee of the House said further changes would be necessary later to equalize differences but that sufficient money was not available now. It stayed within the governor's original figure.

The committee's only cuts in a mental hygiene budget were in slight reductions for farm operations and maintenance at the mental hospitals. Cuts in this department last year aroused some of the strongest debate on budget amendments.

Faces House Battle

The finance groups, after some heated discussion between their members, decided to leave in $50,000 requested for the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra but specified it is the Legislature's intent that the symphony "establish a sound financial basis for its operation and not seek further financial assistance from the State of Maryland."

There are reports a concerted effort may be made in the House to throw this item out.

The cuts generally are the lowest made in an executive budget in recent years.

The governor's supplemental budget submitted today puts to use new revenue uncovered by state estimators yesterday when they raised the forecasts they had previously made for tax collections.

The largest items are $2,629,798 to put all state employees and school teachers under federal social security and $1,785,714 to pay off bond obligations and reduce by 2.46 cents the real estate levy required for next year to service the State debt.

Instead of going up from 10.9 cents to 14.07 per $100 valuation, the property tax will rise to only 11.6 cents under the plan.

Other appropriations are in the form of increases to current budgets mainly to provide funds for certain measures now under consideration in the Legislature and not yet enacted.

Infants Undergo Brain Surgery

Two infants who were seriously injured in an automobile accident in which three persons died February 5 near Uniontown, Pa., underwent brain surgery yesterday in Mercy Hospital at Pittsburgh.

Wilma Bittinger, two months old, was in "fair" condition after surgery, and Rebecca Ann McCoy, seven months, was improving. Wilma's mother, Mrs. Elsie Jean Bittinger, 22, was one of those killed in the three-car smashup, in which a total of 16 were hurt.

Complete Heart Sunday Plans

These leaders in the Heart Sunday crusade to be held in Allegany and Garrett counties tomorrow, are seen talking over their plans at a meeting of neighborhood captains and workers yesterday in Central YMCA. Mrs. Edna Swick, captain of Zone A, South Cumberland is at the left. Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Heart Association and Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, general campaign chairman are in the center, with Mrs. Caroline Sutherland, captain of the Bowling Green area, at right. The house-to-house Heart Sunday solicitation will begin at noon tomorrow.

New Parkside School To Be Dedicated Soon

Ceremony Planned For March 15

Formal dedication of the new $477,000 Parkside Elementary School in LaVale will be conducted at 8 p. m. Thursday, March 15, according to Miss Margaret E. Doak, principal.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson will deliver the principal address at the dedication ceremonies for this project in the Allegany County $3,500,000 school construction program.

Walter N. Hedrick, a member of the Parkside PTA, will serve as master of ceremonies. Two LaVale clergymen will participate. Rev. C. F. Frith, pastor of LaVale Baptist Church, will deliver the invocation and Rev. W. W. Patterson, pastor of LaVale Methodist Church, the benediction.

Merle Zembower, president of the Parkside PTA, will introduce the master of ceremonies.

The new building, operated since last September, will be presented by Mrs. Stanley Buckley of LaVale, a member of the County Board of Education. It will be accepted by Miss Doak.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster will be called upon to introduce the principal speaker.

A variety of music will be offered. Mrs. Darlene Pepper, fifth grade teacher at Parkside, will sing a solo, "Bless This House." The Allegany High School octet, directed by Miss Josephine Kompanek, will sing several selections. Instrumental music will be played by a trio consisting of Mrs. William B. Ludman, pianist; Mrs. Howard Irwin, cellist, and Mrs. Vernon Cost, violinist.

Refreshments will be served by the PTA. Co-chairmen of the committee are Mrs. Merle Zembower and Mrs. John Lucas. The program committee includes Mrs. Byron Bonebrake, Mrs. Walter Hedrick, Mrs. William G. Barger and Miss Doak.

City Expressway Lighting Plan To Be Discussed

A conference will be held Monday in City Hall to discuss lighting plans for the Cumberland City expressway program, Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday.

Attending the conference, tentatively set for 2:30 p. m., will be officials of Green Associates, the firm which is preparing plans for the expressway, and William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light; Thomas B. Finam, city attorney, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

A representative of the Potomac Edison Company, which provides lighting service to the City of Cumberland, also will be present, Mayor Eves said.

Council To Meet

The Allegany Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the AFL Labor Temple.

Heart Sunday Crusade Set Tomorrow

1,000 Volunteers Join Solicitation

After weeks of planning and organization, the stage has been set by officials of the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association for an all-out effort tomorrow to raise funds for the continued operation of the program here.

Tomorrow, designated throughout the nation, is Heart Sunday. In every community in these two counties, volunteers will attempt to contact every house, asking a nominal contribution to the Heart Fund.

The goal of $14,300 assigned these two counties, depends upon the success of Heart Sunday, according to Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, campaign chairman. While $2,500 has already been received from volunteer contributors, it is necessary, he noted, that everyone give as liberally as possible.

At a luncheon meeting in Central YMCA yesterday, attended by about 90 captains and volunteers, final details of the drive were outlined and solicitation materials were handed out.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Heart Association, said the army of volunteers who will be out tomorrow in the two counties numbers close to 1,000.

She said anyone who is missed and wishes to contribute may send (Continued on page 11, col. 7)

Opinion Sought On Board Order

Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert has been requested for an opinion on the legality of two orders approved by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners February 7 to keep protested higher assessments on certain property from becoming effective.

William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of County Commissioners, said yesterday that the opinion was requested by the State Tax Commission after Supervisor of Assessments Somerville Nicholson sent them copies of the two orders.

An opinion is not expected until after the current session of the General Assembly ends next week.

One order approved by Lemmert and Commissioner James Orr concerned that assessments made on new property completed in 1955 are not satisfactory and ordered a new valuation. The new valuation should include all new properties completed during 1955 whether a protest against the proposed assessment was made or not.

The second order stipulated that the re-assessment of Election Districts Nos. 29 (LaVale) and 5 (North End) and a partial re-assessment of Election District 23 (East Side) shall not be entered in the tax books. They contended that Article 91, Section 230 (8) of the Annotated Code of Maryland, requires a review and re-assessment of all assessable property in the county each year.

A truck from the Church World Service Center at New Windsor will be in Cumberland Monday, March 5, to pick up materials for relief. This is a regular tour of the collection truck which is made every three months.

Materials for these collections are gathered by churches, women's groups and Sunday school classes and consist of new or good used clothing, food, fats for soap making and other items. About 5,000 pounds of material was secured in the December collection.

The local collection centers are Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar streets, and First Presbyterian Church on Washington Street. Donations may be taken to either of these centers any time between now and the morning of March 5.

House Approves Sales Tax Hike To Pay Teachers

Salary Increase Ready For Passage

By LOUIS PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 24 (AP)—The House of Delegates voted tonight to finance a $400 pay increase for school teachers by raising the sales tax instead of the income tax.

At the same time, it moved the pay raise proposal up for final vote, probably next Monday. There was no record of the vote on the pay increase itself.

The delegates voted down the income tax increase from 2 to 3 per cent 66-44. They tentatively approved the higher sales tax in event the pay boost is adopted by a vote of 61-35.

The sales tax would go up from 2 to 3 cents on purchases over 66 cents. Between 51 and 66 cents it would remain at 2 cents.

The income tax instead of the sales tax increase was sought mostly by delegates from the Eastern Shore and Western Maryland where retail merchants are in competition with adjacent states.

Other Action Stated

Also on the night's calendar were:

1. A semi-final House vote on a bill to ban foreign-owned breweries from operating in Maryland.

2. A vote on final Senate approval of a bill aimed at ending the Baltimore transit strike by authorizing the Public Service Commission to give permanent franchises to bus companies as competitors of the Baltimore Transit Co.

3. A semi-final House vote on another bill which would achieve the same purpose by authorizing the State to seize and operate strike-bound utilities.

Sponsored by Del. Mandel (D-Balto 5th), it was introduced after Gov. McKeldin had prompted the introduction of earlier measure along the same lines.

Salary Board Replaced

In their afternoon session the delegates enacted a bill to abolish the Standard Salary Board and replace it with a new agency headed by the commissioner of personnel.

The new board would also include the chairman of the City Service Commission of Baltimore, one of three persons nominated by the State Classified Employees Assn., and two public representatives selected by the governor.

The Senate, after some bitter debate at a lengthy afternoon session, set up for passage a bill to give judges on the Court of Appeals and in all circuits pay raises of $2,000 a year.

It also gave tentative approval to a bill already passed by the House which sets up the machinery for extending absentee voting privileges to persons other than servicemen and government workers. The principle was approved by voters in 1954 but the Legislature had to work out details.

The Senate enacted five other measures including one which specifies capital punishment by lethal gas in Maryland shall apply to convictions after June 1, 1956, rather than last June 1 as was written into the original law.
